

The British Science Festival is coming to Birmingham from 14-19 September. From lego to chemistry with cabbage to volcanic ash and the mysteries of the Universe, we bring you the latest in science, technology and engineering. There's something for everyone. Join us for our family weekend, see science shows or why not voice your opinions on issues that matter and put top scientists to the test. There is also the chance to meet some famous faces such as Tony Robinson, Ben Goldacre and comedian Shazia Mirza. Watch out Birmingham, science is about to take over... Be prepared to get your geek on!

To book your tickets, visit
www.britishtsciencefestival.org or call
0207 019 4947

Join us for the x-change where you can discuss the hot topics of the day with the Festival's best speakers over a pint, all expertly knitted together by BBC journalist Sue Nelson.

Tuesday 14th-Friday 17th September, Blue Room, Aston University, 18.15, free entry

The British Science Association is a registered charity, no: 212479 and SC03923